Administrator Center for Health Equity

Aja Barber is originally from Texas but has called Louisville home since 2016. She received her B.A. in Political Science and M.S. in Youth Development from Texas A&M University. While in graduate school, she studied the trauma of institutional racism, the impact of racism on psychology curriculum, and the ways community organizing addresses collective healing. Aja has a specialized passion for facilitating the understanding that the conditions we live in are created and we can build something different by transforming our structures and institutions in ways that work for all of us.
