Speaker Biographies

Patrick Kullman
Interventionist

My name is Patrick Kullman, a Louisville resident. I am a young interventionist and a person of recovery. I have been in the field of addiction and alcohol recovery for 5 years. I have been certified by the Addiction Academy as an interventionist.

I am very passionate about this field of work, considering that I can relate to the struggles and pain that the addicts and the family members are going through. I fully believe in giving back to others and wish for everyone to have a taste of life free from addiction.

My main Service Area is Louisville, Kentucky but will travel to other states if needed.

Kelly Clark, MD
Founder | Addiction Crisis Solutions
Former President | American Society of Addiction Medicine

Dr. Kelly Clark is board certified in both addiction medicine and psychiatry. She has focused her career on issues of addictive disease, evidence-informed behavioral health care and payment reform. She founded Addiction Crisis Solutions to focus on educating all stakeholders on addiction in the service of transforming addiction care to evidence-based, cost-effective practice. She has provided expertise about the opioid crisis to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, U.S. Department of Justice and the Office of Comptroller General; the Pew Trusts, National Safety Council, and National Business Group on Health; as well as numerous provider and payer organizations. Clark earned a master's degree in business administration from The Fuqua School of Business at Duke University and her medical degree from the University of Wisconsin. She continues her work as a founding member of the Advisory Board of the National Rx Drug Abuse and Heroin Summit. Dr. Kelly Clark is a member of the KHC.

Natalie Middaugh, MPH
Project Coordinator | Kentuckiana Health Collaborative

Natalie Middaugh is the project coordinator at the Kentuckiana Health Collaborative, a nonprofit multi-stakeholder organization that works to improve the health status and healthcare delivery system in Greater Louisville, Kentucky, and Southern Indiana. In her current role, she is responsible for facilitating multiple projects in partnership with the Kentucky Opioid Response Effort (KORE), including educational initiatives around Screening, Brief Intervention, and Referral to Treatment (SBIRT), and addressing opioid use disorder in the workplace.

Natalie earned her bachelor's degree in public health from the University of Louisville in 2016. In 2018, she completed her master's in public health with a concentration in health promotion and behavioral sciences, also from the University of Louisville.
